Scandinavian Regional Recruiter

Dear Brian,

It's with great delight that I read about the vacancy for the role of Recruiter in The Daily Standard newspaper.

I've been a very keen gamer for many years and spent one summer working as a tester in the company where my brother works as a game designer.

I believe my experience as a game tester along with my degree and experience in recruitment would serve me well as an employee with Alien Tech AB. I have a really good insight into the gaming world and the people who make careers there.

I find the gaming branch to be an interesting and dynamic growth place with lots of exciting new products being launched on a daily basis. I'd relish the prospect of helping your company to recruit new talents.

Although I still enjoy the occasional online team play, I'm also a horse rider and spend most of my freetime at the stables.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.
